The Carmel City Council will hold a public hearing on the planning commission's proposed new zoning ordinance October 10, 8:15 o'clock in city hall. The date was set at a special meeting noon Tuesday.

This is the first time in four years that any of the planning commission's proposed new zoning ordinances have reached the hearing stage before the city council, and it comes before the council now under the worst of conditions since the council is faced with the choice of accepting the ordinance as the planning commission presents it, or extending the interim ordinance for another three months at least. The interim ordinance was renewed for only five months this spring; it expires on November 30.

If the council makes any substantial change in the planning commission's proposed new zoning ordinance after the public hearing, the ordinance must go back to the planning commission for further consideration, and whatever action the planning commission takes is also subject to public hearing before the ordinance is returned to the city council. A ten days' time lapse is mandatory between legal publication in the Pine Cone and time of public hearing.

For four years the community has seen unacceptable zoning ordinances, concocted by the planning commission, die on informal report to the council. None of them has been as good as the existing zoning ordinance that has protected Carmel for 20 years. Nor is this one. It has several desirable features. It bars motels and hotels from Ocean Avenue; it gives the planning commission design control over commercial construction; it provides for specific percentage of each building site in the business district be set aside for landscaping. It requires 100 percent off-street parking for motels and hotels and 1000 square feet of site for each unit.

There is nothing else that improves on the existing zoning ordinance, and without discoverable reason it opens three-fourths of the business district to unsightly, noise making, undesirable enterprises that were stopped twenty years ago by the old ordinance. There is no need for introducing these businesses which were found undesirable in 1940 and still are.

The planning commission has carried over weakness of the old ordinance into the new. Churches and theatres allowed anywhere in the business district in the old ordinance are on use permit in Ocean Avenue core and free to go anywhere else in the rest of the business district. These large structures with traffic-creating potential should not be allowed in the

Mayor, Carmel Business Property Owners, Former Mayor, Long Time Residents Favor School Bond Issue

Opinion sampling this week of Carmel citizens whose judgement and civic spirit command respect of the community produced the following statements on the subject of the school bonds, which electors of the Carmel Unified School District will vote on Tuesday.

Harrison Godwin, proprietor of the Pine Inn, who has lived most of his life in Carmel said, "I will vote yes. Schools are terribly important." Fred Leidig, one of Carmel's first settlers, whose extensive business property holdings makes him a payer of heavy property taxes: "I'm for the bond issue. I realize the population has increased tremendously and that we must have schools to house the children. I believe we should have economical construction, however, and the record of school building in our district is good in this respect."

Robert Little, member of an insurance firm, proprietor of Carmel Lodge, with a dozen other "irons in the fire," many years a resident of the Carmel Unified School District: "Absolutely. If we have the children, we have to have the schools, and past predictions of growth in number of students have proved very accurate."

Former Mayor P. A. McCreery, insurance agent, a Carmel resident since before the war, chairman of

A Mr. Fuller Of Kansas City Doesn't Like Our Kelp

W. W. Fuller, Kansas City, Missouri, has written a letter to the Pine Cone in which he wonders "why something isn't done about the heavy growth of kelp in Carmel Bay. It's a shame to allow that detraction." He is a regular August-September visitor here.

"I realize it would cost some money to clear it," he says. What Mr. Fuller apparently doesn't realize: it is not entirely a matter of money. With kelp, as with everything else of which one can discover two sides, there is a difference of opinion among Carmelites. Most of them do not find the kelp a "detraction." It is part of the local scene, especially to those who were raised on the Pacific coast. A California inlet or bay without kelp would be as startling to them as a familiar face suddenly bereft of its eyebrows.

The Audubon people value the kelp because it furnishes feeding grounds for shore birds in which they are interested.

But the world is full of orderly souls who have the itch to tidy up everything, including the landscape and seascape, and about a year ago City Councilman Gunnar Norberg, a perennial champion, championed their cause before the city council. He wondered if the coast guard couldn't be induced to drag away the kelp. The kelp belonged to them, he reasoned; it was off shore, or did it belong to the State of California? And how far did the City of Carmel's jurisdiction extend? Long suffering City Attorney John Morse was requested to "research" the matter. He reported to the council

City Planners Deny Building Permit For Dance Hall

Reasoning by Attorney Charles A. Stewart to the effect that an adult dance instruction studio was a place of study where an art form was practiced, failed to convince planning commissioners yesterday afternoon. They voted unanimously against allowing an Arthur Murray dance studio on property owned by Frances Hudgins and Helen Heavey on the west side of Mission Street between Fourth and Fifth Avenues.

Music would be soft, Mr. Stewart added, and therefore not objectionable to residents or business occupants of adjacent buildings.

"There is no intention to have a dance hall," he emphasized.

Commissioner Dorothy von Meier questioned him about the customary monthly dance parties given by Arthur Murray studios. Previously Mr. Stewart had said no parties or alcoholic beverages would be permitted at the studio under an Arthur Murray franchise.

Mr. Stewart replied that the monthly gatherings would not exceed 30 persons, or the maximum number of students taking weekly instruction for a month.

Hartland Law To Direct Carmel Part In CD Exercises

Carmel will be included in northern California civil defense field exercises tomorrow and Saturday, according to Hartland Law, Carmel's assistant CD director. Mayor Frank Putnam heads CD organization for the city.

Mr. Law will be standing by at City Hall during the exercises and report the number of roentgens in a simulated fall-out, prearranged for this area, to the CD evaluation center. His report will be sent through channels set up by CD for this purpose, using local police radio and telephone.

Mr. Law explains the drill will ascertain CD ability to cope with initial phases of a nuclear attack in preparation for a statewide drill in December.

Stressed in the two-day drill will be radiological defense to achieve maximum protection from fallout; operational information to screen in-coming reports and determine the best course of action; and public information to alert and advise all California.

Mr. Law points out that techniques perfected in CD drills also can be effectively applied to natural disasters such as forest fires, earthquakes or floods.

Gas Station Planned For Junipero St.

The Standard Oil Company has applied to the city council for a variance to install two 30-foot driveways on Fourth Avenue and two driveways of the same size on Junipero Street for a proposed service station at the northeast corner of Junipero and Fourth.

Miss Anita Doud, owner of the property on which the proposed second Carmel Standard Oil station may be located, stated this morning that no lease has been signed by the oil company as yet.

The city council will consider and act upon the Standard Oil variance request on their tree tour on Tuesday. Councilmen leave City Hall at 4:00 o'clock. The Doud property will be the first stop on the tour.

This is the first gas station in Carmel since the adoption of the 1940 zoning ordinance which bars new gas stations except in the C-2 zone, which is the business zone blocks facing Junipero Street, Ocean Avenue to Third.

Also on Tuesday's tree tour the council and forest commission, at the request of Street Superintendent William Askew, Jr., will inspect an epidemic condition which might mean the loss of every tree in the strip of Junipero Street between Fourth and Fifth Avenues.

Two weeks ago, after a favorable hearing in Pacific Grove, that district's trustees asked MPC trustees to forward an annexation request to the Board of Supervisors.

Following a favorable hearing in Salinas two weeks from Monday, Supervisors may immediately order annexation to become effective or wait to act at their regular meeting on October 24.

Unless unforeseen opposition to the Pacific Grove annexation develops, Pacific Grove district will become part of the junior college district in October. Carmel Unified School District annexed to Monterey Peninsula Junior College District in July after a favorable election in May.

"Men, women and teachers," was the way a Monterey Peninsula P-TA Council officer classified the audience in Sunset School auditorium Tuesday night. Dr. Henry Rapaport, speaker of the evening, opened his remarks with the statement he was, "Neither man, woman or teacher, but a professor."

Dr. Rapaport came here to discuss How Citizens Can Help To Evaluate Their Schools. He is a research chemist at the University of California and one of eight University of California and Stanford University professors on the San Francisco Curriculum Committee. This group sharply criticized education provided in the San Francisco system and emphasized lack of training in basic skills.

Dr. Rapaport defended this stand here Tuesday night and maintained that entering university students are poorly prepared.

County planning commissioners Tuesday refused to consider plans submitted by Allan Allamprese for

Bank Of America To Give Party On Moving To Plaza

The Carmel branch of the Bank of America will hold open house for Carmel area residents on October 10 in new quarters in the Carmel Plaza, according to Manager August H. Johnson. Time of the community party will be from 7:00 to 9:00 o'clock.

S. Clark Beise, president of the Bank of America, will come to Carmel for the affair and will present a gold key to the front door of the new building to Mr. Johnson during short opening ceremonies. Mayor Frank Putnam and Robert Spencer, president of the Carmel Business Association, will give brief talks. Coffee, punch and cookies will be served and souvenirs of the occasion will be presented to the guests.

Paintings by local artists will be displayed on the walls of the new Bank of America premises, arranged by the Laky Galleries. Neil Armstrong will play organ music during the open house and the Central California Coin Club of the Monterey Peninsula will exhibit a U.S. coin collection.

The local Bank of America branch held a similar open house following their first day of business here on August 3, 1959. The present bank premises on Mission Street will be vacated following the close of business on October 7 at 6:00 o'clock. Moving to the new Plaza location will be accomplished by the morning of October

PADRES OPEN LEAGUE PLAY AT GILROY FRIDAY NIGHT

Carmel High's football team puts its 26-game winning streak and the CCAL B-division championship on the line at Gilroy this Friday night as both the Padres and Mustangs engage in their first league action. This will be the first outing for the Red & Gray gridders this season but the Gilroy squad has had two practice games against AA competition in preparation for the opener against Carmel. In preparation for Gilroy, the Padres had a fifteen-minute session with North Salinas in the CCAL Jamboree and their own intrasquad game last Friday.

On the basis of returning lettermen, the Mustangs should be heavy favorites to halt the Carmel gang, but the football spirit is high on the Padre campus and the newcomers to the varsity squad have shown great improvement during the past two weeks. Gilroy has 16 award-winners back for another season's action and will be able to put a veteran at every position. Coach Red Elder is high on his Mustang squad this season and predicts it will be the team to beat for the title.

Gilroy's forward wall averages well over 200 pounds and is mobile enough to make the T-formation attack hum. Big cog in the front line is center Dick Jones who tips the beams at 240 pounds to provide plenty of protection for the free-wheeling quarterbacks. In Jess Alonzo, a 6-3 flankman, the Mustangs have the best pass catcher in the league and a top defensive wingman. A veteran backfield of quarterback Rich Reyes, halfbacks Amado Hernandez and Tom Hanna, and fullback Frank Flautt gives the Mustangs plenty of swift and quick hitting power.

Carmel figures to go with a starting lineup of Scott Forbes and Doyle Clayton, ends; Chris Wilkin and Bob Blair, tackles; Captain John Wilkin and Frank Preve, guards; Paul Rice, center; Frank Mayo, quarterback; Mike Draper and Bill Coleman, halfbacks; and George Pollock at fullback. Greg Hulsey, Paul Jones, Mike Quarrie, and Lee Oleson will fill in when the Padres are on defense.

Carmel's junior-varsity, currently riding a 23-game win streak, faces an unknown opponent in the 6:00 o'clock preliminary game Friday night. The Mustang jayvees got into the Jamboree via the back door and were roughly treated by the King City varsity. King City scored 35 points in 15 minutes against the Ponies and was eased up during the last five minutes.

Coach Fred Rainer's charges looked plenty potent against Live Oak in the Jamboree and in compiling an overwhelming victory over the North Salinas jayvees last Saturday afternoon. Two fine passing quarterbacks and a bevy of good receivers gives the Padre junior-varsity a good overhead game to go with three hard-running backs and a sturdy forward wall. Starting for Carmel will be ends Dennis Balasius and Dave Harris; tackles Ken Friddle and Cal Poissot; guards Bob Albee and Bill Muscutt; center Terry Tweedie; quarterbacks Bob Larsen and Dan Holman; halfbacks Rick

GOLDEN MOMENTS

In California history—an Indian legend has it that the golden poppy restored warmth and plenty to the land.

In California life—a modern symbol of prosperity is beer, the beverage of moderation. Over 7,800 Californians are now employed by the Brewing Industry. Many more earn income in industries closely identified with brewing—one more reason why beer means better living for all in the "Golden State."

Ocean Avenue core and only on use permit in the rest of the business district.

Studios, allowed in the business district, need to be defined. Yesterday, on its interim zoning powers the planning commission was able to deny a permit for an Arthur Murray Dance Studio. Under their proposed ordinance they would not. They would have no power to denial under their proposed ordinance of a "physical cultural studio."

There are many other instances.

Throughout the four years of planning commission new zoning ordinance creation, the citizens have comforted themselves with the thought that before any new zoning ordinance was adopted they would have a chance to appeal to the council, their elected body, against the ill-advised proposals of the planning commission, and that the council would reject any provisions that would deprive Carmel of its quiet, beauty and distinctiveness.

We have the best council in years at the present moment. They are competent to give us a good zoning ordinance, accepting the features of the planners' proposed ordinance that improve on the old; retaining the strong features of the old, and shoring up the weaknesses in both.

This requires time. It is absolutely essential that the interim ordinance be extended at least for three months during which the council, as a committee of the whole, studies, works over and creates a satisfactory ordinance. The planning commission has had four years and produced nothing but abortions. It is inconceivable that the council should accept this one simply because the planning commission has them over a barrel with a time limitation.

Art On The Peninsula

A joint exhibit of paintings by George Young and black and white photographs by Olivia Young will be on view at the Carmel Foundation Town House during the month of October. Olivia Young is a poet as well as a professional photographer. Her new book, Take the Dirt Road, California in Photographs and Poems, has just been published and was reviewed in the September 8 issue of the Pine Cone. It is illustrated by the author's photographs and will be on display on October 3 at Town House when Mr. and Mrs. Young will open their exhibit with a tea, from three until five. All interested persons are invited.

An exhibition of oils and watercolors by Richard Lofton of Carmel opened this week in Salinas at Hartnell College, the first of the monthly exhibitions for the school term.

The public is invited to see the collection hung on the gallery wall of the college library. Hours are 8:00 to 5:00 o'clock weekdays and 6:30 to 9:30 in the evening Mondays through Thursdays.

"Lofton is recognized as one of the most accomplished artists in the western United States," says Leon Amyx, head of the Hartnell art department, who exhibits in the Carmel Art Association galleries.

"He gains his inspiration from nature, even though his paintings are semi-abstract. He is an experimenter continually searching, while modifying his style."

Mrs. Hugh Hannon, curator of the Feingarten Galleries, waited in vain for the plane carrying artist Rainey Bennett to land at Monterey airport Sunday evening. At the galleries a group of invited guests waited to meet the artist whose one-man shows opened Sunday in Feingarten galleries in New York, Chicago, San Francisco and Carmel.

Accompanied by Charles Feingarten, owner of the galleries, Mr. Bennett had hoped to attend previews of his shows in each city that day, starting in New York and jetting to the West Coast. All went well until Sunday's glorious weather here ended with a low creeping fog.

After returning to San Francisco, Mr. Feingarten telephoned his Carmel gallery and asked Virginia Hannon to announce to the waiting guests that Mr. Rainey would be in Carmel the next day. He also invited everyone to return for a repeat party Monday evening.

A monthlong exhibition of Helen Colby drawings opened Saturday at the Coast Gallery, Big Sur, with a reception honoring the artist. The show will continue through October 21.

LERNER SPEAKS AT MPC

Dr. Max Lerner, columnist, lecturer and author, will speak at Monterey Peninsula College Friday evening at 8:00 o'clock in the college armory.

The public is invited to attend free of charge.

Title of Dr. Lerner's speech is the same as that of his most recent book, America As a Civilization. The book deals with aspects of contemporary American life and with the changes that have taken place.

P. E. Roberts

Pyron Earl Roberts, an employee of Del Monte Properties for the past 19 years, died on Saturday in his home on Shulte Road in Carmel Valley after an illness of two months.

Mr. Roberts was born in Jerico Springs, Missouri, on August 8, 1899. He left his native state to come to the Peninsula 24 years ago and lived in Pacific Grove before moving to the Valley two years ago. His marriage to Marguerite Grace Marvin took place in Missouri on December 20, 1917.

Mr. Roberts was a member of the First Assembly of God Church in Pacific Grove and affiliated with Local 631, Mine and Smelters Union.

He is survived by his wife and three sons, Warren and Ted Roberts of Carmel Valley and Wayne Roberts of Pacific Grove; also three grandsons.

The Reverend Leonard Weston of the First Assembly of God Church officiated at funeral services Tuesday in Paul Funeral Chapel. Pallbearers were Vernon K. Kilmer, Arthur J. LaMothe, W. L. Hoffman, John L. Kelley, Robert M. Steele and Don Schutzler. Burial was in El Carmelo Cemetery.

Friends wishing to honor the memory of Mr. Roberts are asked to do so in the form of donations to the building fund of the First Assembly of God Church, Pacific Grove.

"...and we're close to the new school!"

Boasting about your home, Higgins? Well, that's understandable. Most men who have worked hard through the years to buy good homes for their families are proud of them.

Nice as your home is, its location in a progressive community, with all the public facilities needed for modern living, adds greatly to its attractiveness.

Someday—perhaps years from now—you may sell your home. When you do, the good schools, well-equipped fire department, modern hospitals, ample supply of pure water and other community assets can make a difference of several thousand dollars cash in your pocket.

Of course, you share the cost of these community assets. But the cost is spread over a long period of time to keep taxes at a reasonable rate. This is done by sale of municipal bonds on a competitive bid basis.

The Bank of America and its associated investment dealers bid on virtually all municipal bonds issued in the State. That's because we have confidence in the future of California and communities like yours.

Being right there on the scene, you know the business, industry and people in your community as well as anybody does. You've watched it grow and improve as the years went by. You've helped by voting for needed bond issues.

But have you ever thought of buying the municipal bonds issued in your area? They're available in denomination of $1,000. Municipal bonds pay you a good return and the income you get is tax free. The manager of your local branch of the Bank of America will be glad to give you full information—or you may write to

Wilderness Of The West

A monthly column by
C. Edward Graves

OPERATION MULTIPLE USE

A few weeks ago I made a trip with my son to the Eden Park region on the northwest slopes of Mt. Hood in northern Oregon. I happen to have a great personal interest in this particular section of our western wilderness, because I organized the first exploring party to visit the region in 1922 and the names that were subsequently given to various landscape features in it were thought up around our campfire during that first trip.

The luxuriant wild flower gardens that captured our enthusiasm on that first trip were still there. The beautifully spaced groves of alpine firs and mountain hemlocks, watered by sparkling streams fresh from the glacial snows, had hardly changed at all. What had changed was the foreground of the views toward the great snow peaks of the north in the State of Washington, St. Helens, Rainier and Adams. Where formerly wave after wave of virgin forest, with two beautiful lakes, Lost Lake and Bull Run Lake nestled in them, stretched away from the borders of Eden Park toward the blue distance, now this billowing dark-green mantle was pock-marked with patches of cut-over forest, skinned to the ground and shining like bald spots on a man's head in the clear sunshine.

These cut-over patches are growing in number very rapidly. They are the result of a newly stepped-up policy of the U.S. Forest Service, which conservationists have dubbed in sarcastic vein, "Operation Multiple Use". The Forest Service claims that cutting these patches of forest, which of course necessitates the building of roads to remove the logs, will improve recreational opportunities by allowing motorists greater access. This is called "Roadside Recreation". Thus, according to the Forest Service, the program involves "Multiple Use" and deserves the encouragement of every person in the country.

I wish it were possible to reproduce in this column the color slides that I made of these so-called roadside recreational opportunities. They would show a badly eroded road, cut out of a bare hillside and banked on either side by miscellaneous trash and partly burned logs, too small to be used for lumber, left over from the logging operation. I can't imagine a less inspiring place for any motorist, who has the courage to bump in over these rubble-strewn roads, to enjoy his vacation activities.

The tragedy of it all is that according to a 1958 publication of the Forest Service, "Timber Resources for America's Future", this timber cutting is not neces-

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT ABOUT PROPOSED DEL MONTE SERVICE CHANGES

WE TRIED TO SAVE THE DEL MONTE,
BUT WE MUST NOW ASK TO DISCONTINUE
THIS TRAIN. HERE'S WHY:

In a last-ditch effort to attract more passengers to the Del Monte, and to reduce our heavy losses on this train between the Monterey Peninsula and San Francisco, we announced a new, earlier schedule, effective Sunday, September 25.

This new schedule would have permitted arrival in San Francisco 45 minutes earlier in the morning, and return to Monterey Peninsula points about one and one-half hours earlier at night.

Furthermore, it would have made possible consolidation of the Del Monte with local San Francisco-San Jose trains to reduce our overall losses.

In a survey of Del Monte patrons in late July, an overwhelming majority of those questioned — 73 percent — were in favor of this new schedule.

But just five days before the effective date, the California Public Utilities Commission refused to let us make this change.

It ruled that we would have to go through the long drawn-out processes of formal application, public hearings and Commission study of the proposal.

In the past, such proceedings have taken anywhere from six months to several years.

Faced with this indefinite period of continued heavy losses and no chance to attract more passengers through a simple schedule change, the only reasonable alternative is to file for discontinuance of the train.

Until the discontinuance is permitted, the Del Monte will continue on its present schedules.

PATRONAGE HAS STEADILY DECLINED in spite of streamlined cars and our effort to improve the Del Monte's schedule.

IN JANUARY, 1959, we streamlined the train by adding air-conditioned, reclining seat Chair Cars.

IN APRIL, last year, in response to Monterey Peninsula newspaper polls indicating a preference for more time in San Francisco and a later departure for the Monterey Peninsula, we changed the schedule accordingly.

However, neither the improved train nor the later schedule reversed the downward trend.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

Remember the nursery tale of little Tom Thumb and how he was swallowed by a cow while she was eating her supper of hay? There in close quarters, Tom Thumb kept calling out "No more hay, please, no more hay." Such is our plight at this moment. Gift books keep coming in, and while they may be good books and showing little wear, we have no place to put them and no time to catalog them considering the minuscule amount of demand we have for books of give-away vintage. So-o-o, we are declaring a moratorium. For a short time we are accepting no more gift books, that is until we can make disposition of the ones we now have in stock.

This is what we plan to do about the ones we have now. The Board of Library Trustees has given permission for the library to hold a continuing sale of old books. They have put a price on them, one for non-fiction and one for fiction. We will put the books on a small table near the loan desk, with a small box for the money, and patrons may choose what they want and simply place the money in the box. The money will go into the book fund of the library and thus be turned into new books which we can use to better advantage.

For some years now donors of books to this library have signed a slip which gives the library permission either to add the books to its collection or dispose of them as it wishes. Of late, persons who call the library to say they have books to give us have been told of this intent on the part of the library and all have given permission for the sale of the books not needed in the collection. The sale will start soon, probably in October. If you want to pick up some old book you read years ago and would like to re-read at your convenience, this is your chance . . . maybe.

One thing is certain. There will be a lot of people who exclaim over our selling certain titles, and will demand to know why we do not keep them. Let us say right now that library supplies have gone up in price during the past several years to the place where we cannot afford to waste supplies on books which will not be used, and librarian's salaries have gone up until we cannot afford to waste time cataloging books which will not be used, and library space has been reduced to a minimum so that we cannot afford to waste space on a book which will not be used, and so on ad desperatum. We got problems. We figured this as a solution of a sort. Go along with us in it?

Some time soon this librarian is going to write a bitter witty piece on book reviews. Well, bitter, anyway. But not today.

We have 25 new books this week, and from this office it looks that the most important is The Enlargement of the Presidency by Rexford Tugwell. It traces the widening power of the executive branch of our government from the time of George Washington to the present day. And in case you are a bit hazy as to who was president, when, and how many terms he served, the front page in the book has the break-down on all of them.

Next week this librarian will be attending the annual conference of the California Library Association. Try to keep the town going without my help for a few days?

Grace Ely

Miss Grace Darling Ely, a retired teacher of the deaf, died on Sunday in a local rest home after suffering failing health for some time. She would have been 89 years old today. Her birthplace was Frederick, Maryland.

Miss Ely came from Los Angeles to live in Carmel ten years ago. She was a member of the Carmel Foundation and the Church of the Wayfarer.

A member of the Class of 1893 at Wellesley College for two years, Miss Ely received her bachelor's degree from George Washington University in 1924. For 17 years she taught at the Maryland School for the Deaf where her father was superintendent. Later she taught at the Kendall School for the Deaf in Washington, D.C.

She was first secretary of the Frederick County branch of the Maryland Association for the Pre-

Carmel Reaches 40 Percent Of Its Chest Quota

Total Carmel area Community Chest donations had reached $12,885.50—40 per cent of the total quota of $32,000, this morning. Of this amount $10,328.00 (43 per cent of quota) was from the residential section and $2,457 (30 per cent of the quota) had been collected in the business district.

Kurt Koebig, campaign chairman of the Carmel business area, stated that the response in the business district has been excellent and donations show an increase over last year. Mr. Koebig said

Shannah's National Scholarship

Shannah Stanton left Tuesday for the University of Chicago after a summer visit here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stanton. She has been awarded a three-year National Defense Education Scholarship to study Oriental languages, primarily Chinese, under Dr. H. G. Creel, head of the Chicago Oriental language department.

In June Shannah graduated from the University of Arizona as an oriental studies major. She will continue work in this field with plans to teach later.

Her sister, Susan, also graduated from the University of Arizona this year. She majored in English and plans to return to college next fall for her master's degree.

The girls' brother, Michael, is studying business at El Camino College in Los Angeles. All are graduates of Carmel High School, Class of 1955.

Denise Is Mills Freshman

Denise Scott began freshman year studies at Mills College on Tuesday. She has taken part in a series of pre-class academic and social events since arriving at Orchard-Meadow Hall, the residence in which she will live this year. These concluded with formal installation ceremonies for new students conducted in Lisser Hall on Monday night. Denise graduated from Carmel High School in June.

Democratic Carnival Saturday

Dr. and Mrs. Russell Williams will be host and hostess at a Democratic Carnival at their home in Carmel Highlands on Saturday from 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon until midnight. A painted donkey placed beside Highway 1, just beyond the southern boundary of Point Lobos State Reserve, will mark the driveway entrance to the Williams' property. Funds raised at the affair will be used for the Democratic national campaign and for the campaign of State Senator Fred Farr of Carmel who will attend the carnival.

There will be a bean bar. Hamburgers prepared according to Ephraim Doner's special recipe will be for sale, also other refreshments. Entertainment for young and old will be offered including games of skill, sporting events and a fish pond. Holders of lucky tickets will be awarded drawings by artists Doner and Tom Williams, also pottery designed and created by ceramicist Glenn Minshall.

Mrs. Williams emphasizes that the carnival is not restricted to members of the Democratic Party only. She and Dr. Williams have opened their home for similar fund-raising parties during the past four election years.

Dr. Mordecai Town House Soloist

A diversified program of 12 songs will be presented at the Carmel Foundation Town House on Wednesday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock by Dr. Lindley R. Mordecai, tenor, and Mr. Wade Parks, piano accompanist. Dr. Mordecai, who has been a resident of the Peninsula for a year, is tenor soloist at St. John's Episcopal Chapel and has given recitals in Monterey, Seaside and Salinas. He is studying with Mrs. Nancy Ness Bowman of Carmel.

Mr. Parks is a member of Hartnell College music department. He has appeared as soloist with the San Francisco and the Monterey Symphony Orchestras. The program will be followed by tea. All interested persons are invited.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Dial Carmel MA 4-3881.

To Maintain Our High Educational Standards VOTE YES FOR CARMEL YOUTH

Explosive Growth . . . Every classroom in the Carmel Unified School District is now in use.

Basic Needs . . . No Frills . . . Every cent of the bond issue asked in the present election is in line with present day thinking on hard essentials. These funds provide minimum requirements. The bonds will provide land, classrooms and equipment for basic education. Nothing more.

What The Bond Issue Will Buy . . . 1. A JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL FOR 750 STUDENTS—Seventy-six per cent of the bond issue is for construction of a junior high school at the mouth of the Carmel Valley. This is the cheapest and most flexible solution. It will accomplish: A. Room at Sunset School for kindergarten through 6th grades. B. House 750 Junior High School students. C. Offer economical conversion and expansion for a Senior High School if needed later.

2. FOUR SCHOOL SITES—Number one on the list of school sites is the 45 acres at the entrance to Carmel Valley for the new junior high school. This site was secured some time ago, but not fully paid for. Early option on this and a 10-acre adjoining site has already saved the district $225,000 through increased property values. The bonds will also purchase three more sites, enabling the board to effect similar savings.

3. EXPANSION OF PRESENT FACILITIES—Class room and workroom expansion at Carmelo and River Schools. Centralizing the administrative offices of the school district at Sunset School for economy and efficiency. A small part of the bond money will be used for improvement of transportation maintenance facilities.

What The Bond Issue Will Cost . . . The $1,995,000 bond issue will cost approximately 25 cents per $100 assessed valuation. This will cost the owner of a $20,000 home 3½ cents a day, or less than a package of gum. Carmel school taxes have been and will still be the lowest on the Monterey Peninsula and Salinas, even with passage of the present bond issue. Carmel's tax will be further reduced by 4 cents with expiration of a previous bond issue next January.

sary to the economy of the country. The commercial forest land of the country is mainly in the East and South. Of the 489 million acres of commercial forest land in the country 367 million are in the Middle West, East and South.

Less than ten percent of these forests are in the Pacific Northwest and most of them are in lower locations, not adjoining the more scenic wilderness regions. The Forest Service states in this publication: "The key to adequate timber supplies in the future lies with the 4.5 million farms and 'other' private holdings".

A correlative fact is, to quote a recent publication of the Sierra Club, that "the key to adequate American wilderness lies in public holdings in the West". Operation Multiple Use is fast destroying the pitifully small remnants of this once magnificent wilderness.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

That true power belongs to God, not to matter, is a central theme of the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Unreality" which will be read at Christian Science services Sunday.

Scriptural selections will include the following: "God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble. Therefore will not we fear, though the earth be removed, and though the mountains be carried into the midst of the sea" (Psalms 46:1, 2).

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy this will be read (192: 11-13, 17-19): "Erring power is a material belief, a blind mis-called force, the offspring of will and not of wisdom, of mortal mind and not of the immortal..."

"Moral and spiritual might belong to Spirit, who holds the 'wind in His fists;' and this teaching accords with Science and harmony."

Harlan Wilder In Congo Tumult

Colonel Harlan Wilder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cree Wilder, has written his parents about his experiences with the recent tumult in the Congo. He is chief pilot for Military Air Transport Service at Scott Air Force Base in Illinois. His group's assignment was to fly equipment to the Congo for UN troops sent from Canada. Colonel Wilder accompanied his men to check air bases and landing conditions. The plane that landed immediately before Colonel Wilder's ship ran into trouble with Congo nationals. They were the crew which was beaten up then put in jail or taken to the hospital. Later, through UN intervention, Colonel Wilder was able to arrange the release of his men before returning to the United States.

Harnessing volcanic steam to make electricity is one of engineer Al Bruce's assignments. The project is near Geyserville where PG&E has constructed America's first "geyser" power plant. Natural steam formed deep inside the earth and coming to the surface through fissures and man-made wells turns the turbine-generator. This unusual power plant is adding to California's supply of low-cost electricity... an example of how creative engineering and efficiency enable PG&E to provide for $1 the same gas and electricity that cost $1.28 elsewhere.*

Kauai Residents Visit Carmel

Mr. and Mrs. David C. Cruickshank of the Island of Kauai, Hawaii, have been the guests of Mrs. Armiger Dredge this past week. Mr. Cruickshank recently retired from the position of chief engineer on a sugar plantation. With Mrs.

Cruickshank he has been on a European tour for four months. During this time the Cruickshanks returned to their native city, Aberdeen, Scotland.

They visited Carmel previously two years ago and this time were horrified to see the freeway cuts made at the top of Carmel Hill. Their hostess, Mrs. Dredge, reports she has spent many happy vacations with the Cruickshanks in the Hawaiian Islands.

Chang To Celebrate 12th Birthday With Violin Recital

Taehyun is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Namgin Chang, the latter Korean instructor at the language school.

Accompanist will be Mrs. Seung Piak Park. The program will consist of sonatas by Handel and Mozart; the first movement of the Beethoven Concerto as well as shorter works by Kreisler, Mozart and Bach.

Taehyun's previous recitals have been at the U.S.O., Carmel Town House, Pacific Grove High School Auditorium, Pacific Grove Civic Club, Officers Club, and in duo violin programs with his teacher, Louis Fragos.

PRINCE ALBERT TO BE PENINSULA VISITOR SUNDAY

His Royal Highness Prince Albert of Belgium, Prince of Liege, and his Italian bride, Princess Paola, accompanied by the Belgian Special Economic Mission to the United States, will be the guests of the board of directors of the World Affairs Council of the Monterey Peninsula on Sunday afternoon.

Fletcher Dutton, president of the local World Affairs Council board, was asked by the San Francisco World Affairs Council board to arrange the visit of the Belgian group to the Peninsula. Mr. Dutton has appointed Mrs. Charles P. McHarry to be in charge of the event. Planned for the Belgian visitors are a picnic and a tour of this area.

Prince Albert heads the Belgian economic mission. Included in the group are several Belgian cabinet ministers and 25 leading Belgian industrialists and economists. The visitors will have tea at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dahl in Pebble Beach at the conclusion of their visit.

Samuel Moore

Samuel Burns Moore, a resident of Carmel since 1948, died yesterday at his home at San Luis and San Lucas Roads.

Mr. Moore was born in Louisville, Illinois, on May 28, 1885. He graduated from the University of Illinois in 1907. He entered the retail lumber business, first in Louisville until 1924 then in Salinas where he was manager of the Hayward Lumber Company until he retired in 1948.

He was a member of Salinas Lodge, No. 204, F. & A. M. and Carmel Hi-Twelve Club.

Survivors include his wife, Amy, of Carmel; a sister, Mrs. Alvis Mitchell of Carbondale, Illinois; and a cousin, Mrs. Arthur T. Hayward of Salinas.

Funeral services, conducted by the Salinas Masonic Lodge, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Paul Funeral Chapel. Private inurnment will be in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea.

TILL-TIPPING CASE RETURNED HERE

Two instances of apparent till-tipping were cleared up for Carmel police on Tuesday evening when Michael D. Godula, 30, arrested on a petty theft charge in Benicia, was returned here briefly.

Godula allegedly removed $35 from the till of the Carmel Drug Store on two occasions, once in February and again in August. A voluble talker, he described to police his supposed method of operation.

According to the police report, Godula assumed disguises of various colored T-shirts, a baseball-type cap and dark glasses when he entered stores. He allegedly removed cash from tills if stores were left unattended, then left the premises and removed his disguise.

Godula was apprehended in Benicia on a statewide teletype demand. He had $48,000 in cash on his person when arrested.

PLANNERS DENY PERMIT

pointed out that there was nothing to assure the commission that the Hudgins-Heavey studio would always be operated by Arthur Murray. If the commission allowed one dance instruction studio in the proposed C-1-C zone, a precedent might be set for similar development.

Commissioner Florence Josselyn said music until 10:00 o'clock at night was not desirable to the people in the area. The number of persons using the studio, if occupied by another tenant in future, might increase.

Incompatibility was the reason commissioners gave when they denied the dance studio building permit.

SYMPHONY BROADCAST TUESDAY

A two-hour preview of the season by the Monterey County Symphony will be presented Tuesday evening from 8:00 to 10:00 o'clock on the Treasury of Music program on Radio Station KIDD.

The Symphony Preview will include interviews with conductor Ronald Ondrejka and key members of the orchestra, a discussion of the October 25 opening program.

PADRE JAYVEES CLIP NORTH SALINAS

Coach Fred Rainer's well-drilled junior-varsity gridders ran their undefeated string to 24 last Saturday afternoon as they overpowered a heavy North Salinas Jayvee outfit, 20 to 6. The Padre jayvees got on the board early in the first quarter when Rick Baldwin, a tricky running back all day, took a Bob Larsen pitchout and rambled 15 yards for the score. Touchdown number two came late in the second period when the Padres recovered a fumble and drove 38 yards for the six-pointer. Rick Baldwin finished off the drive with a five-yard touchdown jaunt after taking a reverse from Terry Bishop.

In the second half, the Padres experimented with the platoon system and put the regulars under wraps to keep the visiting scouts in the dark. A well-executed scoring pass from Bob Larsen to Rick Baldwin put six points on the board to give the Padres a 20-0 lead with two minutes left. The visitors got a quick six as halfback Al Anderson intercepted a wayward Padre pass and galloped 26 yards to pay dirt.

Excellent tackling by linebacker
Gary Mumford and safetymen Bob Larsen stood out in the Padre defense while the sturdy line play of Dave Harris, Cal Poissot, Terrence Tweedie, and Ken Fiddle served to control the big North Salinas forwards.

Carmel's lightweights ran into too much experience with the Little Vikings and were blanked, 14 to 0. The visitors picked up two points in the first quarter when quarterback Al Nishimura was trapped in the end zone and was forced to take cover there. The visitors added a touchdown in the second quarter and drove for the clinch in the third period. The standout defensive player on the field was Carmel's Dennis Clark, a hard-tackling midget, who saved
the Little Padres in several tight spots.

CLEAT MARKS

Monterey Peninsula College opens its home season this Saturday night at the Fort Ord gridiron, hosting the Ventura Junior College eleven. This will be the second outing for Coach George Porter's crew and the high-scoring Lobos are hoping their defense will keep up with their offense. Against the College of Sequoias the Lobos racked up 26 points but the porous defense allowed the Giants five touchdowns as the Lobos dropped the decision 34-26. The MPC coaching staff has been working overtime on defensive maneuvers during the past week and the Ventura eleven won't find the going too easy. Carmel's Tim Mitchell has worked into a starting tackle position with the Maroon & White gang and will see plenty of action
Saturday night... Little Hollister Junior College has started a football program this year and is scheduling games with the Coast JC junior-varsity teams. University of San Francisco, once a power in west coast football, is slated to visit Hollister next Wednesday night for a practice game with Coach Bud Ottmar's crew. Hollister eventually expects to enter the Coast JC conference as a full-fledged member.

Businessmen Favor School Bond Election

the adult board of the Carmel Youth Center: "It is a must; that's all there is to it."

Another Carmelite of many years residence, grocer, business property owner, former chairman of the school board, Harold Nielsen: "It is one of those things we must have. If the children are coming along, we must educate them."

"Whit maun be, maun be," says Captain H. M. Gleason.

Robert Spencer, president of the Carmel Business Association, stationery store proprietor, finance officer during his army service, believes, "Passage of this bond election is essential if we are to continue providing good educational opportunities to the young people in the school district. Further, it is prudent and sound to acquire needed land and build needed buildings rather than wait until prices and costs may be much higher."

Mayor Frank Putham, drygoods merchant: "Tax-wise, Carmel is in an enviable position. We shall have the lowest school tax on the Peninsula even if the bonds pass. As for Carmel City, the recently passed 21 cent city increase should be substantially if not entirely reduced in 1961-62, just when the school increase would first become effective."

Speaking for a younger generation, Clayton B. Neill, Jr., who graduated from Carmel High School not so many years ago, and following his college graduation, became an associate in his father's engineering firm: "In my opinion, passage of the $1.9 million school bonds is necessary to provide facilities for our expanding school enrollment. The various items comprising the total figure seems to me to be both reasonable in cost and essential for the proper education of our secondary school students."

71-home subdivision on 117 acres at Carmel Highlands. Their reason: Mr. Allamprese had not requested rezoning of 84 acres that he planned to develop in less than one-acre lots. The Highlands is zoned one-acre minimum lot size.

Last week Carmel Highlands Association members voted 54-2 against the Allamprese subdivision.

Convinced by experts' testimony on last week's field trip, the recommendation of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association, both Valley advisory committees, the Valley Chamber of Commerce and a petition signed by 447 names and 19 letters, that the Valley really doesn't want Granite Construction Company's gravel pit in their Valley, the county planning commission denied the construction company the use permit it was seeking at a public hearing in Salinas Tuesday.

Last year Granite Construction asked for a use permit for a rock crusher in the Valley, and after the usual hearing in which Valley residents had to flock to Salinas to protect their interests, the permit was denied.

Residents are beginning to wonder at the value of the kind of zoning that is use permit riddled; that requires constant attention, frequent rousing of the populace and treks to Salinas to defend what should be assured.

This week's gain for Carmel's forest: the street department, under Commissioner Francis Whitaker's stepping up the planting program; has planted two young pines in front of the post office.

Planning commissions yesterday afternoon granted building permits to: James Doud for a two-story and office building on Ocean Avenue; Charles Catalan for a 20-unit motel with swimming pool on San Carlos between Fourth and Fifth; a parking lot shelter at the Carmel Plaza; a classroom office addition to All Saints' Episcopal Church. They also approved a 20-car parking lot for the Christian Science Church.

Mr. Fuller Doesn't Like Our Kelp

that the city's jurisdiction stopped at the tide line.

Whether the kelp belongs to the State of California or the United States Government was never settled in the Carmel Council Chambers because by next meeting time Councilman Norberg had something else to champion and the other councilmen something else to resist. The kelp, dropped from the city council agenda, is still in the bay, and most of the "natives" are not sorry.
